News for July, 2006

Pacific Northwest Fungi is now in its third month of operation. Although three months is quite short by most measures, because of the speed at which “internet time” passes we are now planning the next version of the website. In the near future we will be adding a number of features that will extend the strategy of using internet technology to enhance the journal.

If you have any suggestions for new features for the website, please forward them to any member of the Editorial Board.
